SELECTION CRITERIA FOR PARTICIPATION IN CIA CAREER SERVICE PROGRAM

1. INTRODUCTION

Two major assumptions for planning are accepted:

A. Assumption /1

A Career Service Program must embrace each employee from the day he enters on duty with the Agency through the day he finally separates and beyond that day to include all retirement and other benefits due him or his dependents. On the other hand it must discover, develop and place future ham Agency executives and administrators. The Program, therefore, inevitably will comprise two major efforts:

(1) Pirety the centinuing effort toward subscella Agency operations for the personnel and training and many programs. This is in-

Mapinges directly upon all employees. St. accomplishes such tasks as:

- a. Recruitment and Placement
- b. Eployee Evaluation
- c. Promotion Salary and wage administration
- d. Reployee Relations and Counseling
- e. Bermal Indoctrination and Training
- f. Retirement and other benefits and prerogatives

  This portion of the Career Service Program, then, applies to all

  CIA staff employees and staff agents without distinction as to grade, assignment, professional or clerical status, length of assign-potential and talents of proven employees. This is essentially a Development Program to insure the best possible use of Agency employees. It is here that selection begins to be felt. The effort put in the development of a given employee must be determined by and justifiable only on the basis of potential and proven stility. The result of this effort is therefore not all-embracing, but rather will wery with the individual. If will locate, emip and produce the future key executives and administrators of the Agency.

This effort effects improved qualification for prombtion and

and operates through such means as:

- a. Rotation
- b. Re-training (seminar and refresher courses)
- e. Duty assignments with on-the-job training
- d. Extension training, including subbatical leave, overseas travel and high-level training assignments such as Mational War College, Joint Chiefs, Dept. of State Policy Planning Staff.

In whew of the foregoing, each staff employee and staff agent does in fact, upon the day he accepts employment, become a participant in the Career Service Program and must be apprised of its incentives, benefits and responsibilities.

B. Assumption /2

Therefore, No selection criteria are required for participation in the Career Fervice Program. However, for participation in its Development

Program, selection criteria are required. The remainder of this paper relates to these selection criteria.

2. RECOMMENDATION

- A. CIA minimum employees in the Career Service Program who satisfy the following requirements shall be eligible to participate in the Development Program:
  - (1) Staff employee or staff agent status (required for Career Service Program)
  - employee's Office Board (described in Attachment 2 dated 12 December 1951). Determination of "proven" service shall

    Quantal part contribution and evaluated potential of the employee. Less than two years Service well regume from Myroral I The CIA Career Sorbice Board.

  - (3) High sensel graduate or equivalent as determined by his

- (B) Security clearance certified by I& Office.
- written agreement to make a career of employment with CIA, including willingness to serve in any domestic or overseas CIA post for which by Agency determination qualified jobwise and physically.
- B. Eligibility to participate in the Development Program shall be determined only on the basis of the above-named requirements. It is to be noted particularly that:
  - (1) No age limitations are set.
  - (2) Civil Service Commission certification is not required.
  - (3) No physical standards beyond those regularly used for agency employment are required for participation in the Development

Program and special physical examinations for this Program as distinct from normal employment are not contemplated.

3. DISCUSSION

A. Re Introduction

The planning bases laid down in INTRODUCTION stem from two major aims:

- (1) To banish from employees' minds the fear that the Career

  Service is a scheme for creating and nurturing an elite corps of a favored few.

  Development
- (2) To make the incentives and benefits of the Garder Service

  Program available to the Agency employees who demonstrate petential and interest in long-term CIA employment.

B. Re "Staff employee or staff agent status"

This stops the obsides inclusion in the Career Service Program of contract, consultant, and special agent categories. It embraces those who work full time with no predictable short-term connection.

8. Re "Proven satisfactory services"

This is intended to permit flexibility, since it is quite possible that one person might be suitable for the Development Program almost immediately while another might require several years! Agency experience. The certification in writing by the Office Board is recommended to insure that careful consideration will precede the selection of an employee for participation in the Development Program.

D. Re "High school graduate as minimum or passing an equivalent examination"

Comments on the originally proposed "Carrer Corps" have indicated fears that too great emphasis was placed on academic background as opposed to on-the-job success. Further, this working group's recommendations broaden the career coprs group to include all GS ratings, some of whom will not be college graduates but who nevertheless have the potential for a CIA career. Consequently, a college function of that with today's opportunities for a high school education or for acquiring its equivalent through experience, Agency interest demands this minimal standard.

Re "Security clearance certified by IAS ...."

This leaves control of security requirements with I&S.

- A suscessful career service program should build within the Agency an ever increasing body of employees with training, broad experience and education superior to those of most other government Agencies and Departments. There can be expected, therefore, a tendency to proselyte CIA careerists on the one hand and on the other a growing temptation for CIA careerists to accept a here-and-now promotion with another Agency to grades which CIA vacancies would not then permit. Therefore, this requirement is set: not as a legal preventive but as the only feasible measure, a moral binder.
- for which by Agency disrmination qualified jobwise and physically*

  Again this is no legal binder since in the final analysis any employee may reject an Agency decision on domestic or overseas employment and resign. But it does seem reasonable to ask that and employee who wants a CIA career be willing, if qualified jobwise and physically, to serve away from washington, D. C. for some periods. CIA can operate only by staffing a complex of world-wide areas. It must, therefore, make its career service incentives - such as advancement, theure and retirement - strong enough to attract and hold many persons who want jobs that are not run-of-the-mine government chores in a tidy and secure niche comented to a single geographical point. Other things equal, a persons so willing to serve is worth more to CIA and merits more from CIA. The "jobwise and physical" qualifications should operate to protect individuals from oves to assignments for which they are not suited, and the Agency from wasteful moving of its personnel.

4. COMMENT

It is emphasized that while the concept presented in this attachment insures all that the bulk of CIA employees will participate in the Career Service Program, this participation is not a guarantee of immediate promotions or of ultimate grade levels for the various partidpants. Eather it means:

- (1) Codification of rights and benefits so that the employee knows where he stands and what he may reasonably plan for. These should include preferential advancement, theure and retirement for those in the Development Program.
- (2) Increased opportunity for training within and outside CIA.
